Event	Race 2 - The Dolls Point Classic
Key Hazards	The Dolls Point Classic is held on Botany Bay, which can present a range of hazards and challenges for watersport participants. Of particular note along the DPC course are: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Several groynes stretching out from the western beaches along the northern leg. These rocky structures are marked with cardinal markers. Some have clearance close to the marker, but paddlers are advised to stay a couple of metres out from the markers to ensure clear water. Localised strong currents form along the groynes and often stretch out in eddies off the end for several (tens of) metres. • The groyne at Dolls Point (first groyne of the race) is particularly hazardous, being placed on the corner. Eddy currents and swirls are common tens of metres away from the end of the groyne. Sand bars can also cause localised (breaking) waves along the groyne when there is swell within the bay. • Swimming enclosures are present along the western beaches of the northern leg, featuring pylons and netting. Stay a couple of metres clear in case of objects snagged to the enclosures. • There is an exclusion zone extending from the runway along the south-eastern leg of the course. This is clearly marked with yellow buoys. You MUST stay outside the line of yellow buoys at all times. • The bay can get popular with motorised and sail craft. Along the western return leg of the course, you may be intersecting with other craft, and should follow standard maritime rules of navigation, keeping a look out.
